

Thomas Carnes

March 2024

thomas.carnes@duke.edu
thomas.s.carnes.mil@army.mil

Education

- Duke University – PhD (Candidate), Philosophy
- Tufts University – MA, Philosophy, 2017
- California University of Pennsylvania - MS, Exercise Science, 2012
- United States Military Academy - BS, Art, Philosophy, and Literature, 2008

Academic Employment

- Instructor, United States Military Academy, Department of English and Philosophy, 2017-2018
- Assistant Professor¹, United States Military Academy, Department of English and Philosophy, 2019-2020

Courses Taught

- PY201 Philosophy and Ethical Reasoning, 2017-2020

Publications

- “Privileged Citizens and the Right to Riot: A Reply to Pasternak,” Journal of Ethics and Social Philosophy 26, no. 3 (2024): 633-640.
- “Violence Against Persons, Political Commitment, and Civil Disobedience: A Reply to Adams,” Res Publica <<https://doi.org/10.1007/s11158-024-09658-y>>
- “Reconciling the Right to Exclude with Liberal Ideals.” Review of Luara Ferracioli, Liberal Self-Determination in a World of Migration (New York: Oxford University Press, 2022), Radical Philosophy Review 26, no. 1 (2023): 145-150.
- “Keeping the Friend in Epicurean Friendship,” Apeiron, 54, no. 3 (2021): 385-410.
- “Forced Separation and the Wrong of Deportation,” Social Philosophy Today, 36 (2020): 125-140.
- “Unauthorized Immigrants, Reasonable Expectations, and the Right to Regularization,” Social Theory and Practice, 46, no. 4 (2020): 681-707.
- “Historic Injustice, Collective Agency, and Compensatory Duties,” Southwest Philosophy Review 35, no. 1 (2019): 79-89.
- “The Right to Exclude Immigrants Does Not Imply the Right to Exclude Newcomers by Birth,” Journal of Ethics and Social Philosophy 14, no. 1 (2018): 28-43.

Awards

- 2024 South Carolina Society for Philosophy Prize for Best Graduate Student Paper, for “Political Rioting as Negative Reciprocity.”

¹ This is an academic rank unique to the United States Military Academy, despite its similarity in name to standard academic ranks. Though it represents the passing of certain professional gates as any other academic promotion does, it should not be taken to mean the same thing as “Assistant Professor” at your institution.

Presentations

- “The Ontological Ambiguity of Certain Unauthorized Immigrants,” March 2024, Pacific APA, Portland, OR.
- “Political Rioting as Negative Reciprocity,” March 2024, South Carolina Society for Philosophy Joint Conference with the North Carolina Society for Philosophy, Davidson, NC.
- “Collective Agency and the State’s Right to Exclude,” Department of English and Philosophy Works-in-Progress Workshop, United States Military Academy, February 2020.
- “Forced Separation and the Wrong of Deportation,” 12th Annual Rocky Mountain Ethics Congress, Boulder, CO, August 2019.
- Comment on Jonathan Kwan, “Self-Determination as the Ground and Constraint on the Right to Exclude: An Answer to the Boundary Problem,” APA East, New York, NY, January 2019.
- “Forced Separation and the Wrong of Deportation,” APA East, New York, NY, January 2019
- “Historic Injustice, Collective Agency, and Compensatory Duties,” Southwestern Philosophical Society Meeting, Denver, CO, November 2018.
- “Unauthorized Immigrants, Reasonable Expectations, and the Right to Regularization,” guest lecturer in seminar on the ethics of migration, United States Military Academy, April 2018.
- “Historic Injustice and Collective Agency,” Department of English and Philosophy Works-in-Progress Workshop, United States Military Academy, February 2018.
- “Unauthorized Immigrants, Reasonable Expectations, and the Right to Regularization,” 4th Annual Ethics and Political, Social, and Legal Conference, University of Michigan – Flint, November 2017.

Professional Affiliations

- American Philosophical Association, member, 2018-present
- Southwestern Philosophical Society, member, 2018-present